Norway Sewer Problem.

The first public threshing out of it was at the corporation meeting last Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance and an expression registered as to putting in a sewer. It resulted in 79 in favor and 91 against. There were probably fully one hundred in the hall who did not vote.

The sewer overshaddowed all other matters at the meeting. The voters wanted information regarding it, and a running discussion was had in which Col. A. J Stearns, W. B Walker, F. H. Noyes, H. L. Horne, Geo. A. Brooks, Geo. R. Howe, F. W. Sanborn, Stephen Litchfield, the civil engineer, and others took a hand.

There are grave doubts as to the advisability of permitting additions to, and the continuation of the present private individual sewers into "the stream" and Tannery brook.

That there is a need of a sewer on the back streets, so-called, there is no question. How best to accomplish this is debatable. That is for the voters and tax payers to say. They will express themselves at some future meeting and we have no doubt it will be in favor of a general public sewer system, under the Charter recently granted.

It's the cost of it the voters are considering, and not the necessity for it. That's admitted.

If figures have been correctly made—on present valuation—abuttors liability to be paid in the first ten years. It will cost abuttors $4.34 on $1,000 valuation for the first year and interest to be reduced one-tenth each year. After the first ten years the cost to the corporation will be $2 55 on a $1,000 for the first year with ten per cent. reduction per year. The method of figuring is given below, and if it is not correct will be pleased to correct it.

The following is the substance of the figures presented by Col. A. J. Stearns as to the cost of the sewer based on the present valuation.

Civil Engineer's estimate of cost of sewer $32,361 93 which allows 15 per cent. for contingencies, but call the total cost $35,000. Let the abuttors or property benefitted by the sewer bear one-half the total expense or $17,500 and let the corporation as a whole pay the other one-half, $17,500.

Under the provisions of the sewer charter the cost of sewer is to be apportioned among the parcels of land benefitted and in the same proportion that the assessed value thereof bears to the total assessed value of the land so benefitted.

The total valuation of the real estate of the Corporation is	$752,260
*Allow 10 per cent. for property not benefitted by the sewer, that is, non-abutting real estate	75,226
Balance being valuation of abutting real estate benefitted by the sewer	$677,034

$17 500 raised on a total valuation of $677,034, being the valuation of the abutting property, equals .02588 on a dollar or $25.88 on a $1000, which under the provisions of the charter must be assessed in annual assessments of one-tenth part each year, thus making the abuttor's sewer tax aside from interest $2 58 per year on a $1000 of valuation upon abutting real estate.

Bonds of the corporation issued to cover the total expense of sewer would probably be floated at 4 per cent. and the interest charges therefore on the $17,500 of expense borne by abuttors would be for the first year $700. $700 raised on a valuation of $677,034 equals 00103 on a dollar or $1.03 on a $1000 for the first year.

Let the bonds issued for the $17,500, to be paid by the corporation, run for the ten years during which the abuttors are paying their "one-half," in order to lighten the burden upon them, paying the interest charges only each year or $700 annually, which raised and assessed on the total valuation of all property of the corporation, real and personal, which is $960,899, would mean .00073 on a dollar or .73 on a $1000 to defray interest charges of the corporation's share of the expense of the sewer. Thus every person having a $1000 of taxable property in the corporation would be liable to an increase in his tax of .73 each year during the ten year period, which for the abuttor would mean .73 per year per $1000 in addition to the $2.58 and in addition to the amount allowed for interest on the $17,500, abuttors' liability, making a total tax of $4 34

The abuttors interest charge of $1 03 on the $1000 will of course be 10 per cent. less each year during the ten year period allowed for the payment of the abuttors liability, while the $2.58 plus 73 cents will remain approximately the same.

For the first year then, upon this basis, the abuttor, who has $1000 of taxable property, would pay $2 58 plus 1.03 plus .73 equals, $4 34, the abuttors interest charge decreasing 10 per cent. each year for the ten years. When the abuttor's liability as distinct from the corporation liability, entirely ceases.

At the end of the ten year period after the abuttor's liability has ceased the corporation can commence the payment of the remaining $17,500 which is to be paid by the entire corporation. Based upon present total valuation of the corporation real and personal, $960,899, the $17,500 could be paid up during the secceeding ten years by laying an annual tax of $1 82 per $1,000 plus interest for the first year of .73 per $1,000, making a tax for the first year of $2.55 per $1000 upon all property of the entire corporation, the interest charges decreasing 10 per cent. each year until the bonds are all paid.

Geo. I. Cummings of the firm of C. B. Cummings & Son, who are the largest tax payers in town said to the writer Wednesday morning, "I'd vote for ten thousand dollars to be expended in a sewer and drain for the "back streets" running from Irving Frost's out to the depot, down Beal street taking in some of the cross streets. There condition is just horrible.

Ask those who, feel that we don't need a sewer to go out there and look over those streets now. See their condition and they will change their minds.

Have them make another visit there next summer in July and August and take in the sights and smells and they will be convenced. No doubt about it." Said Mr. Cummings.

If interested please go over those streets now and again next summer.

The Split-log Drag.

The purpose of this implement is to shape, harden and smooth. Its successful use depends on the judgment and skill of the operator. Merely to hitch a team to it and haul it over a road doesn't mean anything. Where, when and how are questions that must first be decided.

Before using it all stones must and obstructions should be removed from the surface of the roadway and from the gutters.

What are the elements of a gravel road? They are three in number. They are smoothness, hardness and convexity. While a road is being made hard and smooth, it should be made oval, so as to shed water. Unless a road will shed water it will soon go to pieces.

A speaker upon this subject says:—

"The road-drag is the only implement yet invented which, at a moderate expense, enables us to keep the roads smoothed up so that the water will run off of them.

"A road that is dragged that is regularly dragged becomes hard. If a road is built with a drag, it is hard from top to bottom. The drag is one of the best road builders and it builds the road right.

"You drag in a little dirt each time and pack it down. In a little while the road is crowned up and you have the three conditions essential to a perfect dirt road—you have convexity, hardness and smoothness."

Use the drag when the soil is moist, when the particles of soil will move over each other readily, when the elevations will be easily cut off and pushed into the depression.

The margin of time when a road is in condition to be dragged is very short. The soil should not be too soft, nor too dry. As a rule the more a road is settled, the softer should be the soil when dragged.

The mason, in plastering the walls of a building, likes to have his mortar at the right consistency; so the operator of a road drag should study to know the proper conditions of the road that is best adapted to be dragged

The skill of the operator is tested in the way he hitches his teams to the dragg and in his position on the drag.

The inventor of the drag, Mr. King, says:—

"The successful operation of a drag involves two principles, which when thoroughly understood and intelligently applied, make road working with this implement very simple. The first concerns the length and position of the hitch, while the second deals with the position of the driver on the drag. Each influences the other to a large extent, and successful manipulations of the drag is dependent upon an understanding of both of them. The distance from the drag at which the team is hitched affects the depth of the cutting. Shortening the chain tends to lift the front stub from the ground. A longer hitch causes the blade to cut more deeply."

Ordinarily the drag should move at an angle of 45 degrees, the ditch end ahead. But conditions here vary so greatly that the operator must make changes to meet the varying conditions. Only an actual test will determine where the drag can be used successfully.

Some sections of our roads are in such condition that they need to be rebuilt before using the drag. After being made over, the drag should be used upon them frequently to keep them hard and smooth and in proper shape. A road may be widened by the drag. Plow a shallow furrow along side of the ditch work it in with the drag. This not only widens the road, it also brings new material upon it.

Care should be taken that all leaves, brush, grass and similar material is got out of the way. None of those things should be dragged into the road. Most of our roads are too narrow. Too many of them are without side ditches and the water has to flow in the road way. These two evils should be corrected. Whether using the drag or the road machine, these two points should be kept in mind. Those using these machines should take special pains in their use over and about culverts.

The road drag is an inexpensive implement. A number have been made for use in this town. We would like to have them given a thorough trial. Already several of those having charge of sections of highway have signified their desire to try them. The Road Commissioner would like to hear from others. There is no doubt of the value of this implement.

Who in town will make the greatest success of it this season? Who will give it the most thorough trial?

Printed instructions for using will accompany each one. J. A. ROBERTS.

Receivership for Odd Fellows' Relief.

The affairs of the Odd Fellows' Graded Mutual Relief association of Maine, which was organized in 1883 among the members of the Odd Fellows in this state and has $1,363,470 of insurance outstanding, will be closed up if a petition filed by State Insurance Commissioner Beecher Putnam is granted by the Supreme court. A receivership is contemplated. Upon the death of a member each member has been assessed $1. The insurance commissioner places the liabilities at $18,882, or $9,658 in excess of the assetts. There are 21 unpaid death claims, aggregating $18,640. Of the assets $8,170 is deposits in banks.

SOUTH PARIS.

Afternoon Passenger Train Wreck.

The Grand Trunk train No. 5 from Portland to Island Pond, due to arrive at South Paris at a little past 3 o'clock, was wrecked about three-quarters of a mile east of New Gloucester station Tuesday afternoon at 2 24 o'clock, while it was coming into the station. The rear trucks of the tender jumped the rails and turned around. This threw off the mail car and the baggage car which followed. The coupling, between the baggage car and the smoker broke, and this saved the rest of the train from going over. The mail car flew along for quite a distance, mowing down telegraph poles and upsetting things generally until it turned completely over, landing bottom up on the side of the embankment. The baggage car shot partly over the mail car and landed on its side with one end still on the roadbed and the other down the ditch.

None of the train crew and none of the passengers were injured in the least although everybody was shaken up by the jolting and pounding incidental to the sudden stopping up.

Walter French, a mail clerk, was badly shaken up and an ankle broken, and another mail clerk, A. C. O'Connell, had his shoulder dislocated. The mail car was the worst injured, having turned completely about and smashing against a telegraph pole.

A wrecking train was following close behind the passenger train, not in anticipation of this accident, but to go to South Paris yard to pick up the remains of a freight wreck that occurred at that point at about noon, but fortunately not in such a position as to block the main line.

Waiting is discouraging.
Prompt action pleases everybody.
A burden on the back is a heavy weight.
Hard to bear day after day.
Lifting weight, removing the burden,

Norway people tell of it.
Tell of relief that's quick and sure,
Here is a case of it.

Mrs. Julian Brown, Danforth St., Norway, Me., says: "I suffered from disordered kidneys for more than five years. I was treated by physicians and I took a great many remedies in an effort to find relief, but to no avail About three months ago I was reading the testimonials given by different persons who had used Doan't Kidney Pills and I decided to try this remedy. I procured a supply at Stone's Drug Store and am now using my sixth box.

Doan's Kidney Pills did for me what no other treatment or remedy had previously accomplished and I am grateful for the benefit I have received." 14-15

Beyond.

It seemeth such a little way to me
Across to that strange country—the Beyond;
And yet, not strange, for it has grown to be
The home of those of whom I am so fond.
They make it seem familiar and most dear,
As journeying friends bring distant regions near.

So close it lies, that when my sight is clear
I think I almost see the gleaming strand.
I know I feel those who have gone from here,
Come near enough sometimes to touch my hand.
I often think, but for our veiled eyes,
We should find Heaven right round about us lies.

I cannot make it seem a day to dread,
When from this dear earth I shall journey out
To that still dearer country of the dead,
And join the lost ones, so long dreamed about.

I love this world, yet shall I love to go
And meet friends who wait for me, I know.
I never stand above a bier and see
The seal of death set on some well beloved face
But that I think, "One more to welcome me,
When I shall cross the intervening space
Between this land and that one 'over there;'
One more to make the strange Beyond seem fair."

And so for me there is no sting to death,
And so the grave has lost its victory.
It is but crossing—with abated breath,
And white, set face—a little strip of sea,
To find the loved ones waiting on the shore,
More beautiful, more precious than before.

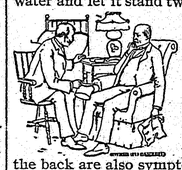
Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.
How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.



What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

Home of Swamp-Root.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Night Adventure of Two Lumbermen.

We were returning from a trip to the "upper camps," where the lumbering crew was at work on a big spruce lot some twenty miles "in back," and chancing to get as far as an old unoccupied camp just at dusk, we determined to spend the night there for the snow was beginning to come down and fly around us in a whirlwind.

Having plenty of provisions and matches, we soon were as cosy in our new shelter as need be.

The camp was fitted up with a stove and bed, chairs and table, for quite often it happened some of the crew above happened to spend a night here.

My companion and I made a fire and having eaten a lunch we sat around the warm stove loath to leave it to "turn in." The night was rough outside; the treetops swayed and twisted in the fierce wind and snow beat against the window panes in sheets. I almost wished we had not started away from the upper camps, but my companion, Jack, was in the happiest mood. His spirits always rose in times like this.

When a gust of wind stronger than any before almost lifted our roof and blew the fire out into the room from the stove he remarked, "This is something not down on our program; what a jolly old night out!"

I asked him why he did not take a stroll out then and see if he could find anybody who agreed with him.

The bunk was in the end of the camp farthest from the stove and we at last went and camped down for the night, planning to get up occasionally and keep the fire going.

Jack was asleep in a few minutes but I could not sleep, for listening to the wind and storm.

There was a tree just outside the camp that creaked and twisted whenever a sudden gust struck. It was an old hemlock, as I noticed before going in, too "shaky" to cut for timber when the lumbermen were here logging on this lot, so it was left standing, the last survivor of its giant fellows.

What if it should break off in the wind and come crashing down on the fragile roof above our heads! It would come straight through no doubt before we would have time to move. This was not a soothing thought, nor did it bring sleep to my eyes.

The fire burned low and I arose to put more wood in the stove, but Jack did not awake. He did not lose much sleep worrying before hand over possible misfortunes.

Dear old Jack, what a rare, jolly spirit was yours! You were always a "dreadnaught" even in our boyhood days.

But caution is good to have in some cases and even worry, so it proved this time. Just as I was about to get back to bed after putting wood on the fire the hemlock cracked louder than ever as a fresh gust struck and I thought it was surely coming down. I stopped and listened and Jack was still sleeping although he did start and mutter something.

"Jack," said I, shaking him gently, "I'm afraid the old hemlock will break down on to us, she cracks fearfully."

"As long as she cracks she holds," Jack sleepily answered.

"No, she don't," said I, she's liable to crack and break and then where would you and I be about that time?"

"I don't know, I'll let you know tomorrow," answered he almost asleep.

"Perhaps you will, old chap, but at present you will get out of that bed if I'm big enough to get you out."

So saying, I went for him and "snailed" him out.

It must have been nearly three o'clock in the morning when we moved over to the other end of the camp and lay down before the fire to spend the remainder of the night.

We awoke at dawn to find that the storm had ceased but the wind was still high.

"I guess we will stay in camp today," said Jack, "and not go down to the settlement."

"If you stay, you will stay alone," I replied, "for I shall not stay here another night."

"Why not?" said he, "I called it bully listening to the wind outside. All that disturbed me was your 'snailing' me out in the middle of the night."

He had just finished speaking when, crash! down came the old tree right through the roof!

When we found ourselves all safe and sound we looked around and there in the farther end of the camp where our bunk was, the old tree had crashed through roof, bed, floor and all, and a sharp limb was pinning the bunk to the ground.

Our hair nearly stood on end as we stood almost petrified gazing at our recent sleeping place.

When we turned away at last, Jack said with his old humor returning, "I hope you will rest well, old hemlock, in my bed, but I'm glad I got out before you got in."

For Constipation.

A Medicine That Does not Cost Anything Unless It Cures.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which are odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c, and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store—F. P. Stone, Main St., Norway, Maine

If Mothers Only Knew

When children are cross, irritable and peevish it does not signify that they have bad tempers; it shows that there is something wrong with the child which it is not able to explain, and which the mother—If She Only Knew—could easily and quickly cure. Mothers, study your child's symptoms; if cross, peevish, nervous, grits the teeth, wets the bed, picks the nose, has variable appetite or bowels, suffers with wind-colic or headache, is irritable and restless, has furred tongue or offensive breath, you may be sure that child is troubled with worms, which cause nearly all the ills of childhood.

Don't delay—disease comes suddenly—a few doses of the wonderful old-time remedy—will give your children that vigorous health which is so important to their future happiness.

Dr. True's Elixir expels the worms, if there are any—if not it acts as a gentle laxative and tonic. It cleans out all waste matter from the stomach and bowels, tones and strengthens the entire system of adults as well as children.

SOUTH CHATHAM.

Betsey Smith.

On March 30, 1911, after a long illness, Betsey Smith, born at South Chatham, Dec. 3, 1833, passed tranquilly to her rest. In Miss Smith's parentage were represented two of the pioneer families of the neighborhood, her father, Elisha Smith, his father, Thomas Smith, a soldier of the Revolutionary war, and her mother, Mehitabel (Kelley) Smith representing one of the oldest and best known families of the East Conway settlement.

As Betsey's two brothers and three sisters grew to maturity they married and returned to homes of their own, some of them living to advanced age.

Betsey remained at the parental home with her mother until her death several years ago. Both women were capable and industrious and by their united labor at sale work maintained their farm home in a picturesque spot at the foot of Green mountain. Miss Smith occupied her home during the years following the death of her mother until a severe illness four years ago which left her in feeble health.

With the reluctance to leave home so common to aged people it was long before she could be induced to go where greater comfort could be assured but was finally removed to the home of her niece, Mrs. Laura Hill of South Chatham. Here she received competent and loving care during the months prior to her decease on Thursday last.

On Sunday, April, 2 at the residence of Geo. H. Hill the funeral services were held under the direction of J. Madison Weeks.

Appropriate Scripture reading, quotations and prayers were by Rev. N. Piper of South Chatham and singing of hymns, Shall we gather at the river, What a friend we have in Jesus and, Shall we meet beyond the river. Friends and neighbors were present from neighboring towns braving the unseasonable cold of the day to pay their tribute of sympathy toward the living and the dead.

Interment was in the Green Hill cemetery, scarcely more than a stone's throw from the late home of the departed one.

Indigestion Goes.

Frank Kimball, Proprietor of the Noyes Drug Store, Sells Best Stomach Prescription on the Money Back Plan.

Almost everybody knows that sick headache, nervousness and dizziness are caused by a disordered stomach.

Upset stomach and indigestion happen just because the food you eat does not digest—but lies in the stomach and ferments or turns sour.

You can stop fermentation and stomach distress in five minutes by using MI-O-NA stomach tablets, a prescription that has done more to cure indigestion and put the stomach in fine condition than all the stomach specialists on earth

A large 50 cent box of MI-O-NA stomach tablets is all you need to get quick and lasting relief. Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes drug store, guarantees them.

Mrs. Altie Etson, of 93 Dun Road, Battle Creek, Mich., used MI-O-NA and within two months was in as good health as ever, and has a good strong stomach, and eats anything she likes. She attributes her good health to MI-O-NA.

If you have heartburn, belching of gas, heaviness or any stomach trouble no matter how chronic, try MI-O-NA stomach tablets on money back plan. Sold by Frank Kimball, proprietor of the Noyes drug store, and leading druggists everywhere.

People who suffer from constipation should not forget that when the stomach properly digests food that constipation disappears. The instructions that come with every box of MI-O-NA will tell you how to cure constipation. 13&15

Tuberculosis Day.

Sunday, April 30th has been set aside as "Tuberculosis Sunday.

"In one respect it will differ from Tuberculosis Sunday of 1910. Instead of requesting the churches to give to the tubercular cause a special Sunday service, the plan is, to ask this year that meetings, at which the subject of tuberculosis and its prevention can be discussed, be held on Sunday, April 30th, or on any other day near that date, either in the week preceding or the week following.

What is desired is that the subject of tuberculosis be discussed in all of the 200,000 churches of the United States at as nearly the same time as possible. This does not demand that a stated service be given over to this work, although that might be desirable, but that any minister, or other authority whom he may invite, may present the problem to his congregation before or after his regular service, or on any day within the week preceding or following April 30."

MIDNIGHT IN THE OZARKS

and yet sleepless Hiram Scranton, of Clay City, Ill., coughed and coughed. He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home. Hearing of Dr. King's New discovery, he began to use it. For all lung diseases, coughs, colds, la grippe, asthma, croup, whooping cough, hay fever, hemorrhages, hoarseness or quinsy, it's the best known remedy. Price 50c and $1 00. Trial bottle free. "Last spring my neighbor, Mr. H. E. Perry, plowed up 2 1-4 acres of run down grass land, and planted it to potatoes, applying 2 1-2 tons of 'Swift's Potato Phosphate.' 335 bushels of potatoes were produced; no other fertilizer or manure was used. Mr. Perry says that the total cost of raising this lot of potatoes, all labor, seed, fertilizer, spraying, etc., was $205.00. These potatoes at present local market prices are worth not less than $500.00. Mr. Perry orders 6 tons of 'Swift's' for use this coming season."

Norway Sewer Problem.

Get informed. It's well to look it up.

Geo. A. Cole says, "If I'd talked two minutes before the vote on the sewer was taken w'd got a majority. All that would had to been said was that there would be no increase in poll taxes and the 15 or 20 poll tax payers would have voted for it, as it was they all voted against, thinking it meant increased taxes for them. They did not understand it".

This is true no one had explained that.

"We need good streets, a better street than Main street, we must have a healthy town if we are to prosper and a sewer is a necessity" said a conservative man. "We must not allow things to go on as in the past. Have your ever followed the Tannery Brook in July and August and smell its fragrance?"

Hon. A. S. Kimball, moderator of the meeting, after its close said "I m in favor of the sewer but do not think we should have taken action on it and raised money until after July as there might be a question as to the legality of the meeting and bonds raised. It's a large sum of money and it's very important that the legality of the bonds should not be questioned."

New Hall is being repaired, and the carpenters and painters have been at work for the last two or three weeks, and you will hardly know the place the next time you go there. All the old scratches, mars and bits of decoration that have been left for the past few years have been removed, and the hall presents the appearance that its name implies.

Two sad cases to report this time. Dr. Cushman from Auburn was called and on April 6th aided by Dr. Coolidge of North Waterford and Dr. Twaddle of Bethel removed the appendix and then removed 33 gall stones from the gall bladder. Under the care of Dr. Coolidge and a trained nurse, he seems to be holding his own at present.

For Those Who Wear Nose Glasses.

Tere is a suggestion to everyone who wears nose glasses and has trouble keeping them on during the warm weather. Get five cents' worth of powdered rosin, dip the end of your finger in the rosin then rub on the small parts of your glasses that come next to your nose, and your glasses will never come off until you take them off. I told this to a friend who is a dressmaker, and she has made it a point to tell all her friends, for she says its worth a hundred dollars to know about it.

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

We Sometimes Forget.

The U. S. Mail Has Right of Way.

But before I forget it, let me tell you a little story, not relating to the Indians but a story of a sorry little old man—who was bigger for a few minutes than President Taft ever will be.

Fort Wingate and Fort Defiance are a hundred miles apart, and the soldiers were being taken from one fort to the other to harden up the legs, so 'twas given out, but I have an idea the war scare in Mexico might have had a little to do with the exercise.

Anyhow they were being marched up the mountain and marched down again. Ahead of us was a little dried up man driving a pair of cayuses that looked as if a feed of cactus once a day was the best they ever got. The officer rode ahead and asked the two teams to pull out and let the soldiers by, but the man and his rims paid no attention, and kept the road. The next time the West Point fellow thought was a splendid time to shine in authority so he rode up and commanded:

"Get out of the road and let the United States soldiers by."

The old fellow didn't even tilt his chin as he drawled out:

"You go to hell and get out of the road and let the United States mail by."

Who Owns the Fruit on Limbs of Trees Overhanging the Line Fence.

The next door fruit tree, growing so near the line that laden branches extend over the fence, has proved a source of untold spankings to the small boy, quarrels between otherwise good neighbors and even resort to the police courts. One is inclined to suspect that the original apple tree of trouble hung over a neighbor's fence

The cause of friction is, of course, the question of the ownership of or at least the right to take and use the fruit on the too widely spread branches. Generally this fruit is claimed by the person whose property is thus invaded, but if he asserts this claim to the point of gathering the fruit without permission he may feel the iron hand of the law, says Harper's Weekly. If he objects to the presence of the branches which extend over his property the owner of the tree must remove them. But if the owner of the tree applies for the fruit or asks permission to enter and take it the owner of the land over which the branches extend cannot refuse permission for entry for this purpose. If he refuses either to hand over the fruit or to allow the owner of the tree to enter and take it, then the owner of the tree may enter without permission, but he must use no force nor commit any damage in so entering.

Certainly the most neighborly thing to do would be to divide that fruit.

Toll of the Tall Timber.

Fifty years ago four-fifths of our standing timber was publicly owned. Today only one-fifth is publicly owned. Fifty years ago we owned eighty per cent. of the vast timber wealth of our country. Today we—and that "we" means you and me—find our patrimony has dwindled to a bare twenty per cent. of the forest wealth of the United States. What have we done with it? Have we with supine indifference to the future stood by and let shrewd and unscrupulous, but far-seeing speculators rob us of our inheritance? Have we bartered away our birthright?

Roosevelt and Pinchot are charged with hindering the development of the West by tying up a large part of the forest area in the creation of forest reserves. Who are making these charges? Who is doing the protesting? Certainly not the owners. Who are the owners? Why the public—you and I. No, we are not objecting to having what is left of our inheritance preserved for ourselves and our children.

We, who have sold our birthright for a mess of pottage and failed to get the pottage, are not raising any clamor against a policy which will protect our property from futher exploiting and plundering. The control of the standing timber is concentrated in the hands of a few speculators. Less than two hundred interrelated holders own not less than one-half of the privately owned timber. With the high taxes on timber land, it is a great temptation for the farmer to sell the growing timber to the speculators. If our towns are wise they will not kill the goose that lays the golden eggs. [Pacific Monthly.

Edison Stands Unique as an Inventor.

Thomas Alva Edison, the celebrated American electrician and inventor was born in Milan, Ohio, on the eleventh of February 1847. When about seven years of age his family moved to Port Hudson, Mich., where he spent the remainder of his boyhood.

When a young boy he started in business as newsboy on the Grand Trunk Railroad. He was a constant reader and was very much interested in making experiments largely with printing presses and electrical and mechanical apparatus.

In 1862 he published a small weekly paper which was known as the Grand Trunk Herald. His printing office was in a freight car from which came this publication, and in connection with this office it also was fitted to serve as a laboratory.

On account of saving the station agent's child from death he was received as pupil at the Mount Clemens telegraph office where he learned with great rapidity and accuracy. While he was engaged as operator he made his first important invention, which was a repeating instrument that transmitted a message automatically on a second line without the presence of an operator.

Soon after making these inventions he came east and located in Boston, Mass., and secured a position where he could work out various mechanical inventions and among these was the vote recorder machine but while it completed the object of its work, it was not considered practical. Realizing his failure he afterwards determined to investigate minutely the necessity of any invention before reducing it to practice.

While Edsion is not credited with any great scientific discoveries, he has overcome the difficulties by his skill and ingenuity, and has bought to a successful outcome that which had often been suggested by other scientific investigators. While in Boston he made valuable inventions of stock printing and other telegraph appliances which he sold for $40,000 and this enabled him to build a laboratory of his own. The next invention was an automatic telegraph system which increased the rate of speed, also the range of action, but the most important was the quadruplex system, a system by which four messages can simultaneously pass over the same wire, two going in the same direction.

In 1878 he invented the phonograph and the megophone and since making improvements over the first invention. The most used and an invention that required the most skilful research to secure its perfection was the incandescent light. In his commercial ventures has been the magnetic treatment of iron ore and a plant for the manufacture of Portland cement.

As an inventor he stands unique among those men of the nineteenth century and has secured the name of "Wizard" on account of his boldness in overcoming difficulties, and bringing about successful achievements from what seemed impossible.

Considerable comment has been made regarding Mr. Edison's views of the world which is before us with all its new machinery and the inventions that await the coming generations. In an article in a recent magazine is given an account of what Mr. Edison believes will be invented and some of the changes that will take place during the next few years. He believes that some day we shall find out how to make gold and it is only a matter of time before the discovery will be made. Only a few generations hence and the children will learn at school of the steam locomotive for the days of this mode of travel will pass away to be supplanted by electricity to run the railroads, especially where the water power is abundant. These same scholars, in stead of learning from books of paper will use, nickle books, bound in steel. He estimates that a sheet of nickle is one-twenty-thousandth of an inch thick is cheaper and stronger than paper and a book two inches thick would contain 40,000 pages and would weigh only a pound, and a pound of this "paper" would cost about a dollar. This one volume would be equivalent to two-hundred paper books of two hundred pages each, almost a library in itself.

Another change is coming in the line of furniture. The furniture will some day be made of steel instead of wood, he says. These can be polished or stained to represent wood and would cost only about one-fifth as much as wood, and would be lighter as only a small amount of steel would be required.

There are also to be changes along building lines as there will be no more wooden buildings but will be made of reenforced concrete. He believes these can be built cheaper and are fireproof and will be the building material of a few generations hence. He also conceives of a machine that will manufacture clothing, feeding the material in at one end the ready-made clothes will come out at the other, thus reducing the prices.

Along the line of agriculture he foresees many new inventions whereby the farmer can do a greater part of his work by machinery and by electrical machines. In this line the work of invention has not progressed as rapidly as in some lines but there awaits a brilliant future for the farmer of not many years hence.

The Camp Life.

To the true fishman camp life is the most enjoyable part of the fascinating sport. In a little nine by twelve white canvas tent with two army camp beds to furnish sleeping accommodations two people can live like kings. Fresh air they will have in abundance. A roaring camp fire will keep off mosquitoes and kindred torments in the evening, while a veil of mosquito netting will ward them away from the defenseless sleeper by night.

The camper should dig a bean hole at once before his tent where the savory baked beans may be prepared for the noonday meal while for supper there is of course the prize of the day's catch.

And after all, what is nearer a sportman's paradise than to sit before the blazing camp fire of an evening with the sound of the water lapping against the shore in your ears, the myriad voices of the night crying out in the woods behind you, and the tempting odor of frying fish mingled with the kindred scent of browning corn-bread in your nostrils?

Now is the time when the lure of the woods is strong and city folk are pining for the odors from the "rough sweet bark of the trees" and "the clear sharp cracklings of sound" that tend to make these visits to the beauty spots of Maine so irresistably attractive. Whether one takes a trip to the mountains or the lakes the days are far too short for all the pleasures with which the hours may be filled. April is the month when the angler comes into his own.

BETTER PAINT

Better paint if you need to. The extra cost this year is $5 more than last year for average jobs 10 gallons Devoe.

Buy your own paint; employ a good painter; pay him the going price by the day, $3 or $4; and tell him to brush it out well. Don't economize. That costs money.

This is how to reckon: Devoe 10 gallons, at $2.25, is $22.50. The work, 10 days, at $3 is $30. Add paint and labor: $52.50. This is right.

Economizing. Buy "cheap" paint at $1.75. It'll take 15 gallons: $26.25. The work is $45. Add paint and labor: $71.25.

"Cheap" paint is dear when the painter is paid; it is dearer yet when you paint next time; you'd skip that time with Devoe.

It Grows Hair.

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store—F. P. Stone, Main St. Norway, Maine.

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me.

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment.
